

Social post text

LifeNet Health is encouraging everyone to talk about organ, eye, and tissue donation with their family and friends as a first step to boost support.

Please copy and share the social posts below.

You can download social media graphics at LifeNetHealth.org/talk

Have you had the talk? It's important to let your family and friends know how you feel about organ and tissue donation. #TalkAboutDonation #DonateLife RegisterMe.org

When people are asked about being a donor, they often think of organ donation, but many don't know that tissue donation is equally vital and potentially life changing. It's important to talk with your family and friends about how you want to change lives through the gift of donation. #TalkAboutDonation #DonateLife RegisterMe.org

Research shows that having the talk is important as a first step to increasing support for organ and tissue donation. If we all start talking, one family at a time, we can save lives. More than 100,000 people are on the national organ transplant waiting list, and they need our help. Millions more can benefit from donated tissue. #TalkAboutDonation #DonateLife RegisterMe.org